

Thailand NADi two liners

The current US-Sino relations must be seen as part of long overdue process of a changing geopolitical world order since the end of WW 11 where the primacy of the United States of America as a military is being challenged as it can no longer dominate the world as it used to. The rivalry is likely to have a negative impact on Asean security and its cohesiveness as a regional organisation.